Few Believe Ike Will Cancel Trip to Russia

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. officials discounted today the possibility that President Eisenhower will cancel either his summit conference plans or his June visit to the Soviet Union unless the Soviet propaganda campaign against the United States gets much more violent.

Eisenhower and Secretary of State, Christian A. Herter are withholding final decisions on the next U. S. move in presuming maneuvering until they get better explanation from Moscow of the alleged shooting down of an American plane last Sunday. They want to see how Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev follows up his rhetorical blast of Thursday.

While administration officials were still trying to assess the Soviet leader's purposes, the present widely held view is that he anticipates some kind of failure at the summit conference and wants to fix the blame ahead of time on Eisenhower.

Khrushchev announced Thursday that an American plane had been shot down early Sunday morning because it violated Soviet air space in southern Russia. He cited this as an example of what he called American aggressiveness. An unarmed U. S. weather plane based in Turkey has been missing since Sunday.

Khrushchev also attacked Eisenhower for saying he might have Vice President Richard M. Nixon substitute for him in at the summit conference if the meeting lasts more than a week. The conference is scheduled to open in Paris May 1.

The violence of the Premier's propaganda blast at the United States startled officials here and even provoked some congressional suggestions that the President ought to change his plans.

Eisenhower himself stimulated speculation Friday about his scheduled Soviet visit when he spoke of taking a boat as a present to Khrushchev "if" he made the trip to Moscow.

Conservation Practices By Farmers

Farmers completing Conservation Practices this week include: John Saunders in the Rocky Mount Community, completed a four acre irrigation lake. John has cleared brush from approximately 20 acres of pasture. Constructed two diversion terraces and seeded about 60 acres of pasture.

Emory Thompson, W. S. Copo, George Peck, James H. Burke. Farmers doing Timber Stand Improvement: that is girdling out the undesirable trees to give room for desirable trees, are Chambers and B. W. Edwards.

Farmers sprig-sodding Coastal Bermuda Grass are: Johnnie Kramer, Gary Formby and Oren Harris.

Farmers constructing stock water ponds are: Mitchell Conway, Charles Simpson, Jim Wilson, Richard Davis, Ernest Stone and William Gilbert.

Farmers constructing Diversion Terraces are: E. B. Drev and Stomon Goodlett.

Most pond sites are too wet for construction. Be sure to notify the Soil Conservation Service soon as you think your pond on drainage ditch is dry enough to construct. We are anxious to get them constructed.

Several farmers have fertilized their stock water ponds for fish growth and the water is responding to the fertilizer. You can more than double your fish production with Commercial Fertilizing. Now is a good time to apply the fertilizer.

Precaution Taken

LONDON (AP)—The constant war between crooks and cops will be stepped up Friday during the royal wedding.

"It's always the same," said a Scotland Yard spokesman. "Crowds attract crooks and that attracts us. Plainclothes detectives will be out in force tomorrow looking for law breakers." Hundreds of plainclothesmen underwent final briefings today.

Weather

Arkansas — Partly cloudy and cool through tonight. Warmer on Sunday.

WEDDING FEVER — Palace guards, background, ride to their post as four British women take up their position along the wedding procession route in London. Wedding fever has gripped England and thousands are lining the streets in London waiting for the marriage of Princess Margaret to commoner Anthony Armstrong-Jones, today.

Rough Talk Revives More U.S. Trouble

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—With Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev talking tough again another uncertainty is being accentuated in the long list confronting American business men today.

Earlier views that the May 16 summit conference in Paris would be largely a do-nothing or hold-the-line meeting are being revised to include the possibility of fire-works.

The general threat to international relations is worrisome to everyone. For businessmen there are some added specific uncertainties based on both this and on the increasingly troubled outlook for trade here and abroad.

Khrushchev's anti-American tirade Thursday may have been too much for some businessmen. But it could still leave its deposit of nervousness in business thinking and planning here until the outcome of the summit meeting is clearer.

There are other uncertainties with overseas tinges. They include rising imports, continuing loss of gold, stepped-up campaigns of manufacturers of other lands to capture more of the American market, increasing competition of foreign goods with ours in many of the world markets, and the still troublesome hangover of restrictions on American goods that many other nations impose.

American manufacturers are well aware these days that foreign competition is growing tougher. Imports in March ran 5 per cent ahead of the previous month and of a year ago. In earlier estimates government forecasters had looked for imports to hold about the same this year as last, while exports rose.

Exports also rose in March to a bit more than 1½ billion dollars and were 279 million dollars more than imports.

But a bigger margin than that is needed if the American goal of markedly stepping up net income from abroad is to be achieved. A bigger surplus of exports over imports is needed to offset the net outflow of dollars and gold abroad, swelled by foreign aid, tourism, and private investments, as well as imports.

The outflow of gold increased during April, although still well below the disturbing volume of the two previous years.

Imports still hold strongly to raw materials. But manufactured goods are pouring in at a greater rate.

Many American manufacturers are likely to step up the complaints they have been making to Washington about the invasion of home markets. The chief gripe is that labor costs abroad are lower, giving Americans a price disadvantage.

And Americans have been increasing their protests to federal officials over the trade barriers they still encounter in other lands. There has been considerable lowering of these in the last year. But quotas and high tariffs are still troublesome, and according to U. S. businessmen—often prohibitive.

There'll be plenty to talk about at Paris, if the Berlin crisis pails.

Group Decries Plight of The Farmer

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee decried the plight of the farmer and rapped administration farm policies today as it approved a $3,994,781.500 money bill for the Agriculture Department.

This is $170,491,000 less than President Eisenhower had requested for the fiscal year starting July 1 for the department's regular and special activities.

Asserting that "the most serious problem" facing agriculture today is continued overproduction of crops already in surplus supply, the committee called for a new approach to production control.

It noted that the government, through the Commodity Credit Corp., already owns nine billion dollars worth of surplus commodities. These surplus stocks, it said, should be offered to farmers in consideration for cutting back production.

The results of such a program, the committee said, would be a saving in storage costs, a reduction in price support payments in line with production eliminated, and a saving to farmers through reduction in costs of production for which there is no market.

An alternative approach suggested would be to continue price supports on total production limited to domestic and foreign market needs.

The committee recommended that the department be given authority to encourage growers of wheat, corn and feed grains to cut production up to 25 per cent in any one year in exchange for an equal quantity of surpluses held by the government.

Once adjustment of production has been accomplished the committee said a commission should be appointed to prepare for submission to Congress a farm plan based on protecting farm income and keeping production in line with market needs.

Despite the heaviest federal spending in history on agricultural programs, the committee said, farm income in 1959 was at the lowest level since before World War II. If the present farm policies are continued it said, the situation will worsen.

Entertainers Wow Each Other

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet and American entertainers wowed each other today at a post-midnight party given by Russian artists for the cast of the musical "My Fair Lady."

The entire American cast brought cheers with a choral number from the musical "Oklahoma."

The Americans will give their last Moscow performance of "My Fair Lady" tomorrow night. They open Tuesday in Leningrad for two weeks, then play in Kiev.

Heiress Expecting

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Heiress Gamble Benedict and Andrei Porumbescu, are expecting a baby early next year.

The couple made the announcement at a hotel where Porumbescu, 35, got a job as director of guest relations after he and Gamble, 19, eloped from New York and were married at Hendersonville, N. C.

Low Bid on Dam Is $6.8 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An apparent low bid of $6,897,840 was received yesterday on a contract for construction of the $200-foot overflow section of the Dardanelle Lock and Dam.

The bid was submitted jointly by the Johnson Construction Co. of Minneapolis, and Peter Kiewit Sons of Omaha. It is more than $2,100,000 under Army Engineers' estimated cost of the job.

Col. A. M. Jacoby, district engineer, said a contract would be let in two weeks. Work is expected to start in early June. Specifications call for completion of the project within 900 calendar days after work begins.

Eighteen bids were received, ranging upward to the $9,397,451 offer of W. H. Grimsaw Construction Co. of Tulsa, Okla.

The project includes the center section of the dam, which is the first major Arkansas job in the long-range Arkansas River development program. Embankment work and construction of a portion of the lock began last year.

Kennedy and Johnson Are Popular

WASHINGTON (AP)—A poll of northeast Arkansas voters by Rep. E. C. Gathings (D-Ark) has shown that Sens. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) and John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) are the most popular presidential candidates in that area.

Gathings reported yesterday that Johnson was the choice of 21 per cent of the 1,194 who responded to his mailed questionnaire. He said Kennedy was second choice with 10 per cent.

Next were Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) and Vice President Richard Nixon, each with 6 per cent.

Gathings sent out 7,000 questionnaires in the 10 counties of the First Congressional District. Other leaders in the poll: Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) and Alvin Stevenson, each with 5 per cent, and Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn), 3 per cent.

Democrats to Name Delegates

By LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Naming of Arkansas delegates to the National Democratic Convention encountered a temporary delay today, after a member of the state Democratic Committee complained that he had not been chosen.

A list of names was read and then Joe Bill Gillespie of Carlisle protested that previously members of the state committee had been on the delegation if they wished.

Chairman Tom Harper of Fort Smith said that members of the selections sub-committee had not known of Gillespie's wish.

Harper agreed that state committee members had customarily been delegates when they wished. The chairman recessed the full committee meeting briefly to allow any committee member to present his case to the sub-committee.

The list which was read contained the names of Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who previously had said he didn't know whether he would be a delegate.

Newsmen also heard the names of Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark) and of Mrs. W. F. Norrell, wife of Rep. Norrell (D-Ark).

The state's congressional group was not otherwise represented.

In keeping with pre-arranged plans, the committee immediately after the meeting opened chose Mrs. Jack Carnes of Camden and Pat Mehaffy of Little Rock as members of the National Democratic Committee to begin service in four-year terms after the July convention at Los Angeles.

Mrs. Carnes succeeds herself, and Mehaffy succeeds Paul Chambers of Little Rock.

The committee also selected Leon Catlett of Little Rock to succeed William J. Smith of Little Rock, a Mehaffy law partner, as state party secretary.

Mrs. Carnes, Mehaffy and Catlett were choices of Faubus.

Steals Watchdog

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Bobby Yow reported to police Thursday that burglars took him valued at $150 from his home. Yow did not place specific value on one item of the loot—his watchdog.

Pilot Alive and Admits Being a Spy, Reds Say

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today the pilot of the American plane shot down on May Day was alive and had confessed that he was flying across the Soviet Union on a spy mission.

The Premier told the Soviet Parliament that the plane was shot down near Sverdlovsk in the Urals while en route from an American base in Pakistan to a base in Norway.

It was intended, he said, to photograph the Ural region, Archangel and Murmansk.

Khrushchev identified the pilot as Francis Gerry Powers, 30, and said Powers had told Soviet interrogators he had been instructed not to surrender to the Soviets and had been given a poison kit in order to commit suicide if captured.

Khrushchev said he had deliberately withheld some details of the incident when he addressed the Parliament earlier this week.

He described the official U. S. explanation that a weather research plane had strayed on a peaceful mission as a fabrication.

"American official statements on the subject were complete fabrications, based on the assumption that if the aircraft had been shot down, the pilot must have died," said Khrushchev.

Moscow radio broadcast his speech.

(The U. S. State Department had identified the pilot of the missing plane as Francis G. Powers, 30, of Pound, Va., a civilian test pilot for the Lockheed Aircraft Corp.)

Khrushchev said the plane was shot down from a height of 20,000 meters and added: "If they fly higher we will still get them."

He said that Powers claimed that until 1956 he was in the American Air Force earning $700 a month. He said the pilot admitted that he then went to work for what the Premier called an "American spy organization" for a salary of $2,500 a month.

"That's the way capitalists buy human beings," Khrushchev said. The Premier showed the cheering deputies a film which he said had been taken from the plane and developed here.

Khrushchev led into his story of the confession by saying:

"Now I am going to tell you a secret. I did not tell you when first reported the story that we had parts of the plane and that we also have the pilot who is alive and kicking."

"We did that on purpose, because if we gave all that information another explanation (by the United States) would have been produced."

Market Dull and Mixed on Friday

NEW YORK (AP)—Aircrafts, airlines and an assortment of speculative issues advanced late this afternoon in an otherwise dull and mixed stock market.

Volume for the day was estimated at 2,600,000 shares compared with 2,670,000 Thursday.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point were the rule among key stocks. Electronics and other issues which have attracted speculative interest made bigger strides.

Texaco Instruments rose more than 9/16, Universal Match better than 3/4, Hovag 4, Zenith and Adams-Millits more than 2.

Transitron was ahead about 2 and Bell Howell more than a point.

Aircrafts were up solidly in belated reaction to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's speech. Airlines rose as a farce boost seemed in the offing.

Up about a point were Douglas Aircraft, Temco Aircraft, General Dynamics, Pan American, United and Eastern.

Long-range U. S. government bonds continued to gain. Corporate rates were narrowly higher.

Atlas Missile Is Destroyed

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—An Atlas missile was destroyed today moments after a training launch at this missile base.

It exploded at about 5,000 feet over the base, but debris rained down only in a safety area, causing no injuries or damage.

Destruction was ordered, the Air Force said, because of a malfunction. What failed was not described.

SOUND DROWNS OUT PAIN—Madeline Coubre blissfully undergoes work on her teeth at a dental convention in San Francisco. Secret of the work is in the earphones and the control box in her hands. Dr. Wallace Gardner of Cambridge, Mass., claims that sound blocks the reception of pain in the brain. Instead of feeling pain, Madeline heard a waterfall.

Persons Born Under the Sign of Taurus' the Bull, Have Two Distinct Personalities

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Pay no attention to the sign of Taurus, the bull; these are the facts.

If you were born from April 21 through May 19, Taurus is your astrological sign. You have a natural magnetic and attractive personality. The true Taurus character and temperament is like the season of the year the sign represents.

However, there are two kinds of Taurus personalities. One is called "cultured" and radiates mental and physical beauty, charming manners, and a soothing demeanor. There is an air of natural and unaffected refinement, interesting wit, and enjoyable humor.

The "uncultured" Taurus personality is apt to be somewhat gruff, manifesting a peculiar self-will and obstinate attitude which could be dull and uninteresting. That sounds more like the animal which illustrates this horoscope.

People in the entertainment world have often been born under this sign. Some few of the writers in this category were Charlotte Bronte, Henry Fielding, William Shakespeare, and Robert Browning.

Actors and musicians born under the sign of Taurus have been Shirley Temple, Ella Fitzgerald, Lionel Barrymore, Franz Lehár, Kate Smith, Glenn Ford, Lorenz Hart, "Bing" Crosby, Tyrone Power, Brahms, Tchaikovsky, Gary Cooper, Fred Astaire, Irvin Berlin, Joseph Cotten, and James Mason.

Of necessity, the list of famous Taurus folks must be limited but the complete list is quite impressive and contains such people as John Audubon, Samuel F. B. Morse, James Monroe, and Sigmond Freud.

A Taurus person possesses such traits as beauty, culture, grace, honesty, depth of feeling, affection, and an understanding sympathy. But, look out. Behind all this lies a great power that can be used or abused. It all depends on the individual.

Widely used and directed, this power is known as determination. When uncontrolled, it's bull-headedness. The average Taurus individual is easy going until aroused, they are not easily subdued and have a tendency to hold a grudge.

The greatest beauty about the Taurus nature is the deep and festered toward those they love and are fond of. They make loyal friends and are both kind and generous. Honestly, sincerely, and reliability are also attributes of their nature.

If you were born under the sign of Taurus, you can be depended upon by others, you are inclined to be methodical, and whatever you do, you desire to do well. By nature you are thoughtful, serious, and a reflective being.

"Bully for you" if you were born under this sign, for you have all the basic qualities of character and temperament that will enable you to progress in life.

New Storm Tracker

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Workers have started installing a powerful new radar to aid Weather Bureau officials in tracking storms off Florida's Gulf Coast.

The radar, which will have a range of 250 miles, will be installed atop a 600-foot tower at Tampa International Airport. It will replace a radar which has a range of 100 miles.

21 Years for Whipping Officer

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A negro man was sentenced to 21 years imprisonment today for the pistol-whipping of a white patrolman here.

Pulaski Circuit Judge William J. Kirby imposed the sentence on Hamilton Fogg, 30, of Little Rock. Fogg was charged with assault with intent to kill in the beating of Patrolman J. L. Morton with the officer's own pistol last Sept. 1. His sentence was the maximum permissible.

Morton had cornered Fogg in a burglary investigation when the fight erupted.

Judge Kirby also sentenced Fogg to 20 years imprisonment on a burglary count, with the two terms running concurrently.

Morton testified 46 stitches were required to close scalp wounds suffered in the beating.

U.S. Delays Comment on Air Incident

By JOE F. KANE

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States officials withheld any strong protests today on the Soviet Union's shooting down of an American plane while they sought further information on the incident.

President Eisenhower, after ordering an official inquiry, made no public comment.

The State Department said the initial approach would be in the form of an inquiry to the Soviet Foreign Ministry for more details on the incident reported by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev Thursday in a blistering speech.

Khrushchev said his government "will make a severe protest" to the United States over the alleged violation of its air space, but the communication had not been received Thursday night.

There was no official identification of the craft.

However, indications pointed to an American weather plane reported missing since Sunday. Its civilian pilot was identified as Francis G. Powers, 30, Pound, Va., a test pilot for the Lockheed Aircraft Corp.

Powers was flying a high altitude weather research plane of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The State Department, while not stating this was the plane involved said it was possible that the pilot bled out because of a failure of the craft's oxygen equipment. It said the plane might have continued on automatic pilot and accidentally violated Soviet air space.

NASA said Thursday Powers' plane may be the one shot down by the Soviets, adding that the search for the missing plane could be halted if the Soviets would identify the downed craft. It said Powers had reported trouble with his oxygen equipment during the Sunday flight.

Justice Costly

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The judges attending the 11th Pennsylvania Judicial Conference were told they can attend a joint dinner tonight for $10. "It's just the high cost of justice," commented one judge.

Senate Facing Big Load in Final Weeks

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic leaders have outlined a big load of work for the Congress in the final nine weeks of the 1960 session before the national political conventions.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) praised his colleagues highly for five days of hard work before the Senate quit Friday for the weekend.

He said that if they worked at the same pace in the coming weeks, they undoubtedly could dispose of the remaining major legislation.

However, some of the important measure he listed, such as an immigration bill, remain bottled up in committee with little evidence so far that they are going to be cleared.

Johnson noted that the Senate since Monday had disposed of a $1,400,000,000 foreign aid bill, a 970-million-dollar space authorization measure, a 251-million-dollar depressed areas bill, the 720-million-dollar Commerce Department appropriations bill, the 557-million-dollar Interior Department appropriations measure, a government employee retirees' health bill, and a bank merger bill.

Then he listed these important bills to be acted on before adjournment:

JA bill raising the minimum wage and extending coverage of the act. This has been under consideration by the full Labor Committee since last summer.

A medical plan for the aged. Johnson said he believed Congress would act in this field before quitting. The issue is now before the House Ways and Means Committee; that branch must act first.

A federal employees pay raise. The House committee has approved a 9 per cent boost. The Senate group is still conducting hearings.

A farm bill. Johnson noted the Senate Agriculture Committee had approved a wheat bill, and said perhaps a more comprehensive measure covering many crops might come from the House.

A housing bill. The House has passed a one-billion-dollar measure; the Senate Housing subcommittee opens hearings on it Monday.

A social security bill. Now before Ways and Means. The House must act first.

An unemployment compensation bill. Legislation to broaden coverage and set federal standards is being introduced, but there is no indication the committees will act on it this year.

Khrushchev Can Only Help Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP)—An aide to Vice President Richard M. Nixon said today Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may have given the prospective Republican presidential nominee a boost by comparing him to a goat in a cabbage patch.

"We're not worried," Herbert G. Klein, press secretary to Nixon, told a group of newsmen. "Khrushchev has been critical of the vice president before and he also has talked to him calmly after the kitchen exchange."

The Soviet Premier Thursday scoffed at President Eisenhower's suggestion that Nixon may replace him at the summit conference. He said Nixon is no man to pick to end the cold war and it would be "like sending a goat to take care of a cabbage patch."

In speaking of the kitchen exchange, Klein referred to the sharp face-to-face encounter between Nixon and Khrushchev at the U. S. kitchen exhibit at the Moscow fair last year. It was televised and widely displayed in this country later.

Answering question of newsmen, Klein indicated Nixon supporters believe the Khrushchev cracks will help Nixon politically. He said the Soviet chief's comments were obviously framed to win applause from his supporters and followers.

A smile goes a long way, but it would often do a lot more good at home.

Loves Husband But Avoids Sex

By DOROTHY DIX

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband and I were married seven months ago. We were and are deeply in love. I am now five months pregnant which makes us both very happy. There is only one thing wrong. I don't enjoy sex any more. Has it anything to do with my condition? My husband is very patient and understanding, but it hurts me to see him unhappy. Any advice will be welcome.—Confused

Dear Dorothy Dix: I could very well be your condition. Ask your doctor. Meanwhile I'm sending you my leaflet on Marital Harmony.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I bought a book. I traded it in good condition at the store and got another one. I know this was dishonest. My sister found out and has threatened to tell my mother, who won't understand at all if I confess. I've tried before and regret it. This sister has gotten me into trouble several times. I keep to myself a lot. Our church hasn't a steady minister so there is no one I can talk to. Please help me. I'm desperate.—Guilty

Dear Dorothy Dix: Before you call yourself guilty, show your letter and my reply to the manager of the store where you purchased the book. On the basis of what you have written, I see no wrong in the subsequent trade-in, since the sales clerk was obviously aware of the complete transaction. If it was wrong, offer to pay the cost, even though you may have to work to raise the money. Incidentally, I would be interested in knowing what the books were and if you read them.

As for your sister, I advise her to practice the Golden Rule.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Recently a fellow with whom I went steady broke with me, his reason being I refused to give up my plans for a college education and marry in two years. He also planned to quit college so that we could marry. At present I am going with another fellow who also talks of marriage but is not rushing me. I do not feel that I am quite ready for the responsibilities of married life. Was I silly in my decision?—Miss Doubtful

Dear Miss Doubtful: You've not met the right boy yet, otherwise you wouldn't raise the question. You were not silly in keeping college your objective. You'll be all the better prepared to face life.

Send your problem to DOROTHY DIX. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her in care of this newspaper.

"Take Bette Davis," he suggested. "She let herself get fat and sloppy; her career slid and she didn't care. One morning she was turning the TV dial and happened upon my show. Somehow, I talked her into taking part."

"She swears that I made her whole life over. She got her figure back and now she looks terrific. She's interested in life again."

"I do everything I possibly can to get the viewer up out of his chair and down on the floor," he said. "I spend much of my time trying to think of new ways to cajole them, plead with them, even intimidate them to rebuild their bodies. I even have the children drag their mothers out of the kitchen."

Lalane is convinced Americans eat miserably and exercise too seldom. Having gotten his message to the housewives, he now wants to corral the indigent males with a nighttime show.

"Most men are active in sports until they leave school," he remarked. "Then they get into a job and they let their bodies go to seed. It's criminal. I'm going to do everything I can to stop it."

Lalane himself is up at 5 a. m. for a run through the hills with his dog, spends an hour or two in the gym and pats sparsely with accent on fish ("the one food man hasn't been able to contaminate"). He doesn't advocate such a spartan life for his viewers. "The right kind of food and even 15 minutes of exercise a day will be enough to renew their bodies," he said.

Chapter XXVIII
There was a great deal to learn; Bea Collins was not an easy taskmistress; she was an excellent executive, and very fair. She shared her knowledge and experience, and expected intelligent results. She gave unstintingly of herself for eight hours a day and expected her assistant to do so, too.

Ann came into work a few hours in the coffee shop. Now and then when things slackened and Rose could take a break, she met her for coffee. Early in February, Ann and Jim came tearing over to see her one evening.

Rose was watching TV; she was tired, but roused herself as they came in. "Hi, sit down. What's new? You look as if you'd inherited 10,000 shares of—"

"Baby," said Ann, and collapsed on the couch. "I saw Steve this afternoon."

Rose said, "That's wonderful."

"I'm stopping work," Ann said. "Just when I was getting to like it, too. But I can't fall down with a tray even if it is in a hospital."

"You'd better not fall down at all," Tim warned her.

Rose waited. Do dreams ever come true? And Ann said firmly, "Of course, it will be a boy."

"Hey," said Rose, "they come usually in this way."

"I'm not even going to think about a girl, but if it is one, I'll name her Jaime."

So much for dreams.

When they'd gone, Rose thought of their happiness for a while, and then she thought of her pay checks.

The first one seemed incredible; in all her life Rose had never earned a dollar.

She'd thought foolishly, sadly, tenderly, as she put it in her purse: If only I could buy something for Mark.

It was not the season in which to take flowers to the cemetery. She went seldom now. At first, she had gone alone, almost every day. It wasn't far from the village, the lonely slope, facing west and looking down on twin small lakes. After a time she went only to see that the plot was in order. There was nothing there but silence and a granite stone. At first she'd thought maybe she could draw closer standing there looking down, and knew she never would.

She took nothing now, but sent a check to the hospital in Mark's name from her earnings.

The rest went into the savings. It would build up, after a while, for emergencies, an extra something for the kids, a vacation.

On a Friday night in February, sleepily, sitting alone in the study with a magazine in her hand, wondering what tomorrow would be like, she heard a car drive up and someone knock at the door.

She went to open it.

Karen was there with a flight bag in her hand and a car waiting beyond.

"Karen!"

"May I come in?" Her voice was roughened, and she coughed. "Just for overnight? Tell me honestly, Rose, if not, I'll have the cab take me back to the station."

"Send the cab away," Rose said. She was incoherent. She began to cry holding on to Rose. Then she began to laugh. She said, and motioned to the falling snow, "It's like East Lynn, but I'm so tired, Rose."

In the living room, Karen sat down and put her face in her hands. She was very thin; still beautiful; but the flesh of her face was a shallow covering for the fine bone structure. She wore a brilliant lipstick and was flushed.

"Suppose I make you a drink?" Rose suggested.

Karen shook her head. She said, "I haven't had much to eat."

"Coffee," Rose said, "and I'll fix you a sandwich."

They went into the kitchen and Rose made coffee and sandwiches. And Karen said, "You haven't asked me where I came from."

"Out of the everywhere into the here," Rose said lightly. "When you're ready you'll tell me that will be tomorrow I hope. I'm off tomorrow."

"Off?" repeated Karen, with a show of interest.

"I've a job at the hospital."

Karen nodded as if nothing could astonish her. "I flew in from Italy this morning and took a room at the Waverly," she said. Her dark eyes were dry now and brilliant. "I—well, it's just four walls, but I didn't know what to do next."

"You'll stay here," Rose said, "until you figure out the next step. I'll have someone pick up the luggage for you and pay your bill."

She ran upstairs, got the bottle of sleeping capsules and put it into her pocket. She had remembered that Ann and Jim were driving to the city in the morning.

On the way back she picked up a pen and note paper and laid them on the table in front of Karen.

"What's that for?" Karen asked. Her eyes were frightened.

"So you can write the hotel people. Our neighbors, the Baileys, are driving to town tomorrow. Write a note and ask them to give Jim your luggage and say he'll pay your bill. Have you your key with you?"

"It's at the desk."

Rose said, watching the other woman's hands shake. "You aren't well."

"I've had pneumonia," Karen said faintly. "I'm over it, of course—I had one cold after another before—I thought maybe in July I'd be better, but it didn't help. I'm fine really, except I feel like a rag."

Rose got up early and had made coffee before Olive came in, complaining of the recent thaw—everything running water and then, freezing; the roads were slick.

Rose briefed her: an unexpected guest who needed rest. "Let the upstairs go and be quiet as you can. How's your mother?"

"She'll fine," said Olive. "Can't you tell me, and the garden?"

When the Baileys came in, Rose said, "I can't thank you enough—it's a sort of emergency. I'll be around if the hotel people call up. By then paren should be awake. I gave her a sleeping pill last night; she needs sleep like crazy and had none on the plane."

Sid Caesar Trips Through Old Jokes

By FRED DANZIG
Unite Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—Sid Caesar's "Tiptoe Through TV" was more of a re-run through his joke files. Nevertheless, he gave us a number of enjoyable moments during a generally disappointing CBS-TV hour.

Sid's company of clowns, like his famous couch, was working beautifully Thursday night. The company included Charlton Heston, Audrey Meadows, Howard Morris and Paul Reubens. White Riven and Jack Cole took care of the dance numbers, both of which were off-beat, imaginative and well-staged.

My chief complaint about the show is that it failed to deliver what it promised. We were led to expect some affectionate sketches that twisted TV's tail. Certainly, as in any field, there are things about TV that call for satirical treatment.

But Thursday night, the announcer would lead us along into a TV-spoof frame of mind and the subsequent sketch would go off in a non-TV direction.

Here's what I mean:

Sunday afternoon intellectual shows—a rich area for satire, right? Well, the sketch quickly turned into a serious jazz dance.

Educational TV programs. I suppose this will do, too, as long as you're determined to ignore the real targets. This sketch turned out to be a tipy tiptoe interview with Caesar as "the professor," a routine that rehearsed older material. It had funny lines, but it had nothing to do with TV.

Late movies? Fine. But here, the spoof turned out to have nothing to do with TV, either. It was a slick takeoff on Japanese movies—the sort of thing we are told nobody "out there" is supposed to dig, a rating spoiler. For the sake of TV, I hope it went over. I thought it was wild, tender, hilarious and—here we go again—too long.

Caesar's opening pantimime as a concert violinist, another repeat bit, ranged from brilliant to bad and should have been shorter.

Daytime TV? Here, the show was fulfilling its promise. The format was the courtroom TV drama. As the "permanent" special guest prosecutor, Heston had the best material and handled it with fine comic style. The best line in the show was his: "I've tried cases on every network."

If only the rest of the material had that approach, I would have been happier than I usually am when Caesar is working on TV.

Pat Boone's ABC-TV half-hour, videotaped in Venice, was a lovely program. The canals, bridges, pigeons and piazzas served as memorable backgrounds for the songs Pat and Pier Angeli sang. One number, a rock 'n' roll thing by a local instrumental group, could have been cut. It was badly done rock 'n' roll. But in the vernacular of Boone's fans, the show was real gon-dola.

The Channel Swim: Milton Berle, "Mr. Television" 10 years ago, returns to NBC-TV in the fall as emcee of "Jackpot Bowling," which will be a live half-hour show originating on the West Coast. Pro bowlers will compete for cash prizes.

ABC-TV has confirmed "The Law and Mr. Jones" as a half-hour addition to its Friday night schedule, starting Oct. 7. James Whitmore stars as a brilliant lawyer who serves the needy.

Claudet Dauphin has been replaced by Jean-Pierre Aumont in "The Impostor," CBS-TV's "U.S. Steel Hour" play for June 15. Ann Sheridan co-stars. . . . Arthur Hill has been added to the case of "Woman in White," the May 23 "Hour of Great Mysteries" production on NBC-TV. Walter Slozak and Siobhan McKenna are the stars of this Wilkie Collins story.

A filmed show that deals with intrigue on the NATO level, "Danger Man," is a tentative choice for a Friday night spot on CBS-TV's fall roster.

Everyone to like me.

"You've got yourself a kingly-size inferiority complex. I'll fetch the mail now; there'll be a New York paper."

When she returned with the paper, Karen went on as if Rose had never left the room.

"You don't know anything about me."

"Well," said Rose. "I know now that you were a model."

She didn't add that Pete had told her sometime ago. "And I know your maiden name."

"My father had a drugstore in a Wisconsin town. His grandfather started it. Mother came from a prosperous farm—Dad sent me to college. I had two years and a wonderful time—too wonderful; my grades went down. I didn't even try to keep them up. There was a row when I came home and a worse one when I left for Chicago. A girl I knew was modeling there. My parents didn't like it but they let me go and even sent me an allowance."

"Didn't you once tell me they'd died?"

"Before I married—that's why mother's folks gave me my wedding."

Corporations Make More First Quarter

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Two out of three American corporations managed to make more money in the first three months of this year than in the first quarter of 1959.

But a slowdown in the year-to-year gain—5.5 per cent this time—was noticeable. A year ago they were doing 54 per cent better than in depressed 1959.

Total profits were well below last year's high in the second quarter. And many companies may be doing well to break even in the current quarter with last year's figures.

Dividends are following much the same pattern. Cash payments in this year's first quarter were reported 77 per cent ahead of a year ago by the Department of Commerce but a slowdown in the advance was indicated in April figures by Standard & Poor's Corp.

The statistical firm reports that for the first time since November 1958, the number of dividend increases failed to rise. This April, 30 companies raised their dividends, compared with 109 in March and 70 in April 1959.

Caution over the slower rate of profit improvements is believed by the firm to have caused the good slow attitude of many corporate boards.

The earnings figures for the first quarter also show a decline in profit margins from a year ago. While many companies show sales ahead of last year, the ratio of profits to sales slipped. Reasons given include higher operating costs and increased competition here and abroad.

The U.S. Treasury also is watching the profit prospects this year closely, since much of the hope for a Treasury surplus depends upon a substantial increase in corporate earnings this year to provide larger income tax collections.

Of 652 corporate earnings tabulated for the first quarter of this year, 419 companies reported increases over the previous year. This time there were 45 of them operating at a loss, compared with 34 in the red in the 1959 period.

Groups declining this year included aircraft, containers, rail equipment, mining and metalworking, rubber and railroads. The airlines as a group showed a net loss this year, compared with a modest profit a year ago.

On the upside—often helped by comparisons with last year's performance in 1959—were farm equipment, textiles, machinery and tools and communications, in particular.

Wisconsin has an area of 56,106 square miles.

ROUGH OCEAN RACE

By WM. TAYLOR MCKEOWN
Editor, Popular Boating.
(Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

CORAL HARBOR, Nassau, N. P. — (NEA) — By sunset over the Bahamas, 48 hours after the start of the Fourth Annual Ocean Bowerboat Race from Miami to Nassau, all 22 boats had been accounted for.

Thirteen finished. One blew up, burned and sunk in the Gulf Stream. One swamped and sunk in the wave — frothed Bahama Flats. Seven turned back or had to be towed in.

Of the finishers, 10 waited out a night at Frazers Hog Cay rather than tackle the formidable Tongue of the Ocean in the dark. They completed the final run to the Coral Harbor Yacht Club the next day.

Boats varied from 40-foot power cruisers competing in the predicted long division down to runabouts that would have no business offshore with skippers less experienced than the experts who brave the beating this gruelling 104-mile course deals.

The race more than lived up to its reputation as the world's most rugged.

Our boat was a 23-foot-fiber-glass cabin cruiser from New England, built by the Marscott division of George O'Day, powered by two Volvo 80 horse power engines with Aquamatic outboard drives for running over the shallow banks and coral reefs of these tropic isles.

We crewed for Skipper, Jim Wynne, a marine engineer whose experience includes an Atlantic crossing by outboard. With him we won the single-engine division of this race in a 17-footer last year.

At 7 a.m. as we headed out Miami's Government Cut to the start, the wind was already white-capping the sheltered channel water. Ahead, the ocean horizon was corrugated as the Gulf Stream flowing up from the south met a strong wind from the north and east.

Wynne rammed both throttles full open, and we shot up the first wave, out into space, and down into the trough in a burst of foam.

Other boats soon disappeared in the swells, each hoping as they ran farther into the Atlantic that the waves would go down—and knowing they would not.

South to starboard we could see the new pink hull of ocean-sailing yachtsman Dick Bertram, the eventual winner, leading the pack. His 30-foot Ray Hunt hull, similar to ours, was speeding along smoothly as it threw sheets of spray. Two Interceptor engines gave him 550-horsepower, an advantage over our 160 total.

Half way across the 50-mile Gulf Stream lap our seat wrenched loose and we were committed to holding on standing up for the remainder of the race. At another point as we jumped aft to check the engines a wave tossed the boat in the air and we landed across the cockpit with two ribs cracked.

Then ahead, a white cap on the horizon held still and grew into a lighthouse as dark blue waters greened over coral reefs and we shot through the cut at Gun Cay and around to the Cal Cay Club dock, official point of entry into the Bahamas. For the first time Wynne pulled back the throttles from full ahead.

"Keep pumping gas until our immigration papers are OKed." Jim yelled to the dock man. Three minutes and 19 gallons later we were at full throttle again heading out with the knowledge we were the second boat through and only 10 minutes behind Bertram in the lead.

wonders if it is being shaken by the jolting ride and can find a tiny island. Then the Berry Islands appeared almost where they belonged and we decided we could fight the next lap of 32 miles without slowing down to refuel.

Called the Tongue of the Ocean because of its shape, open seas, and great depths, its swells must have been building all the way across the Atlantic to meet us on our side as we cut across and up the face to the breaking crest and slanted down the other side. Here, for the first time, we throttled back slightly.

Again a white dot lifted in the distance and made the last few miles worthwhile as we approached Hog Island light off Nassau. But behind New Providence our hopes for smaller seas disappeared as the wind seemed to turn to fight us head on right into Coral Harbor. And then, as we shot past the breakwater, the water flattened for the first time in 10 1/2 hours.

A crowd on the dock reported we were second to finish, two-and-a-half hours behind Dick Bertram with his expert crew of Sam Griffith and two-time Bermuda Race winner Carleton Mitchell. Theirs was a new race record of exactly eight hours.

Finishing after us in third position was a 20-foot Thunderbird outboard with two 75-horsepower engines, driven by veterans Bob Cox and Ed Joyce, who finished at 5 a.m. the next day after a 22-hour, 15-minute grind. This was the only other boat to complete the race without an overnight stop.

Again the race proved that today's family pleasure craft can take rough offshore seas at excessive speeds when handled by experts.

3 Negroes Register at Dollarway

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Three six-year-old Negro students registered yesterday to attend the all-white Dollarway School next fall and a Negro man who drove two of them to school, reported he was beaten by a burly white man.

Ivey Anderson 75, said he suffered bruises and lacerations in the beating, administered while he was waiting for the students to complete the registration process. Police said they had no report from Anderson about the fight.

The students were Andrew Howard, Linda Diane Houston and Delores York. They asked to be admitted to Dollarway's first grade next term. The school board will consider their applications when it assigns pupils under a state pupil placement law.

The Howard boy is the nephew of George Howard, a Pine Bluff Negro attorney who is prosecuting an integration suit against the Dollarway board. This suit, board's announcement that it would consider requests of pre-

My "Mom"

...and how we love her! She is a unique individual. She is personal. She is mother. It is she who tempers us to fit into a big world. She leaves the life she gave and guides its destiny.

Mother is the one who is most concerned when the world may rise against us. She is an important factor in shaping the mold from which real men are made. Not one single human emotion comes nearer the divine than does a mother's love for her child.

Then, respect her experience, her knowledge, her concern for your life. Listen to her pleadings. Follow her teachings. Accept her guidance... for, in few instances, will she ever be wrong. How fitting that we give this day... the second Sunday in May... in her honor. In respect to her, and to show your deepest concern, take her to church this Mother's Day.

You In The Church
The Church In You
